VALUE PROTECT

PROTECTION BEYOND REPAIR

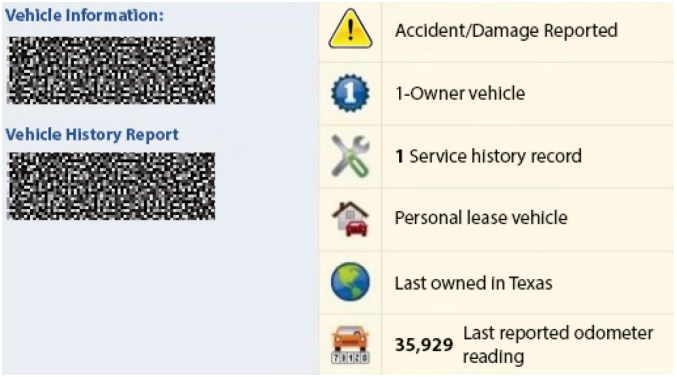

In the United States there are millions of vehicle accidents each year. A significant percentage of vehicles involved in those accidents end up being a total loss. If your vehicle ends up being totaled in an accident it's possible that you'll find that your auto insurance WILL NOT protect your vehicle's value. Many states allow auto insurers to specifically EXCLUDE diminished value.

Purchasing a Value Protect plan helps shield you against the loss of leverage when negotiating trade-in value or an early lease termination.

THE VALUE PROTECT SOLUTION

- Offers peace of mind as the only proactive approach to diminished value protection
- The perfect complement to GAP, creates a "Total Financial Protection Package"
- Provides a convenient and hassle-free way to trade a previously damaged vehicle
- Potential sales tax credit on the benefit amount reduces the effective cost of Value Protect
- Availability not limited – you can purchase a Value Protect plan at any time

DAMAGED & REPAIRED, NOT TOTALED?

If you're trying to sell your damaged and repaired vehicle, the buyer will likely refuse to pay the same money for it as they would for an accident-free car, so you are likely to sell it at a discount. In other words, you just lost some money or equity you may have had in your vehicle.

An accident with damage on a vehicle's history report can reduce the actual resale value by as much as 30%. Depending on the level of coverage, Value Protect benefits can pay your retailer up to $10,000 to minimize your vehicle's diminished value.

Please see your contract for the specific terms and conditions of coverage.
